

Daniel prays to God

Every day, Daniel went to his room and asked God for help.

“Let’s get rid of Daniel,” said some men.

“He’s the king’s favourite. It’s not fair,” they grumbled.

They waited for Daniel to do something wrong, but he didn’t. But the men saw that Daniel always prayed to God. They thought of a trick.

They said to the king, “Why don’t you make a new rule? For thirty days, no one must ask for help from anyone but you.”

“That’s good,” said the king. “If anyone breaks it, I’ll put them in with the lions.”

Daniel heard about the new rule, but he still went to his room and asked God for help. The men who hated him told the king, and Daniel was put in with the lions.

Next morning, the king went to see what had happened. Daniel was safe! “God stopped the lions from hurting me,” he told the king. “God is so great!”
